

Love's Assets or Liabilities

Your perspective on your partner can naturally change over time, and can either contribute to an Invisible Divorce™ or help you move past it. I hope that this list gives you some laughs and becomes the opportunity to consciously choose your perspective.

In the Beginning, I loved that my partner was:	As I see it now, I can't stand (want to kill off) that my partner is:
So into me!	Possessive
Extremely enthusiastic	Crazy
Laid back	Lazy
Smart	Condescending
Successful & ambitious	Neglectful & workaholic
Life of the party	Drinks too much
Organized and on top of things	Obsessive and compulsive, Control freak
Self-aware	Self-obsessed
Takes care of me	Never lets me do what I want
Needs me	Needy
Great and involved parent	Never leaves their kids alone
Has high standards	Impossible to please
Great relationships with family and friends	Never has time for me
Fun!	Never takes anything seriously
Lives by their own rules	Sociopath
Emotionally strong	Never know what they are feeling
Nurturing	Smothering
Passionate for work	Unavailable
Great with money/saver	Frugal/stingy
Carefree	Careless
Determined	Can't take no for an answer